Dear Mr. Wicaksono,

Thank you for submitting your manuscript to Heliyon and for giving us the opportunity to consider your work. I regret to inform you that your manuscript does not reach the required quality standard of this journal and we must therefore reject it.

The paper focuses on some important issues for the selected local community. However, the needed a more specific research focus that could be better explored within the confines of an academic paper. The method is not explained adequately and the nature of the data is not sufficiently detailed for an academic publication. Further, the data analysis is not explained well enough and there is insufficient evidence of research validity. The second part of the paper moves on to alternative strategies but it is not clear how these strategies are drawn from a rigorous research processes.

For more information on the journal's scope, please refer to our Journal Guidelines.

Useful resources for authors can be found in the Researcher Academy. There you can find for example a video on How to prepare your manuscript or How to cite your article correctly.
