Abstracting and Indexing

AIP Publishing recognizes the importance of enhancing visibility and discoverability of published research by including published research in abstracting and indexing (A+I) databases that researchers use. We support the work of A+I services by providing researchers with access to all of our published proceedings volumes upon publication. However, how quickly selected proceedings are available in an A+I service is up to the provider; AIP Publishing has no influence on this timeframe. AIP Conference Proceedings are indexed in a number of services, including these leading databases:

- The Conference Proceedings Citation Index (part of Web of Science)
- Scopus (Elsevier)
- Inspec
- Chemical Abstracts Service (CAS)
- Astrophysics Data System (ADS)
