Fwd: Revised paper on Your IJEEI Manuscript No D17-10522

The paper has been reviewed. Please find reviewer comments to your revised paper as follows:

In this paper, the authors present detection/classification of lung nodule of CT images. The method consists of several stages: read and normalize image, lung segmentation, candidate nodule extraction and classification.

In my opinion, the author use existing methods, at least they fail to explain the novelty of the proposed method in the paper. Regarding the finding that the CPU computing outperforms hybrid CPU-GPU, it is not sufficient to only presenting the fact, without any explanation to the contradictory finding.

This is a borderline paper that needs a major revision. I do not recommend the publication of the paper at the present stage.

Please explain all revision you have done and answer all reviewer comments or question in separate file.

Please revise your paper within 1 week.

Thank you for your interest in publishing your paper in this journal.

With best regards,
